WAIMEA SOCIETY

AT SELECT FUNCTION

Waimea, Kauai, Feb. 21.—One of the largest and still most select social events of Kauai this year was the reception given Mrs. James Spalding and Mrs. Eric Knudsen Saturday evening by Mr. and Mrs. Francis Gay at their beautiful home at Kekapa, midway between Makaweli and Waimea.

The two ladies in whose honor the reception was held are recent additions to society here, both being brides of a few months.

As the 80 or 90 invited guests arrived, they found the spacious grounds and house profusely decorated. The garden was brilliantly lighted with paper lanterns and on the lanais, and in every room there was an abundance of plants and floral designs arranged in a pretty and unique manner.

The parlor, reserved as a ball room, became the rendezvous, dancing seemingly possessing the greatest charm of the evening's many modes of enjoyment. Music was furnished by the Waimea band and two-step, waltz and lancers were continuous until midnight, excepting during three intervals when delightful vocal music from Mrs. Gay, Mrs. Elston and Miss Martin, was enjoyed.

Refreshments were served at midnight.
